100% home compostable & biodegradable

Bio Vegbags, also known as biodegradable and compostable bags, are made from natural materials and are designed to break down in the environment. They are considered to be a more environmentally friendly alternative to traditional plastic bags, which can take hundreds of years to decompose and contribute to pollution in oceans and other ecosystems. Because bio bags are made from renewable resources and break down more quickly in the environment, they are considered to be a more sustainable option. Additionally, bio bags can also be composted, which helps to reduce waste and promote sustainable agriculture.
